The 4th International Academic Conference on Human Security (#IC4HS) Human Security and New Technologies

Belgrade Serbia

Last updated: October 2, 2018

GENERAL INFORMATION

The 4th International Academic Conference on Human Security is an opportunity for scientists, theorists and practitioners to present and exchange their research results, experience and views on Human Security issues we have been facing for some time, such as violence of different forms and origin, but also some emerging issues including new technologies which create both new opportunities and threats to Human Security. It is organized by the Human Security Research Center (Faculty of Security Studies, University of Belgrade). The previous three editions of the Conference were held in 2004, 2014, and 2016. This biannual event significantly contributes to scientific knowledge on Human Security.
